EUROPEAN AWARD AADIPA
of Intervention on Architectural Heritage

The award

The European Award for Architectural Heritage intervention (AADIPA) is a biennial contest organized with the support of COAC (Official Association of Architects of Catalonia) and AADIPA (Association of Architects for the Defence and Intervention in Architectural Heritage), the purpose of which is to distinguish patrimonial good practices and contribute to their disclosure.

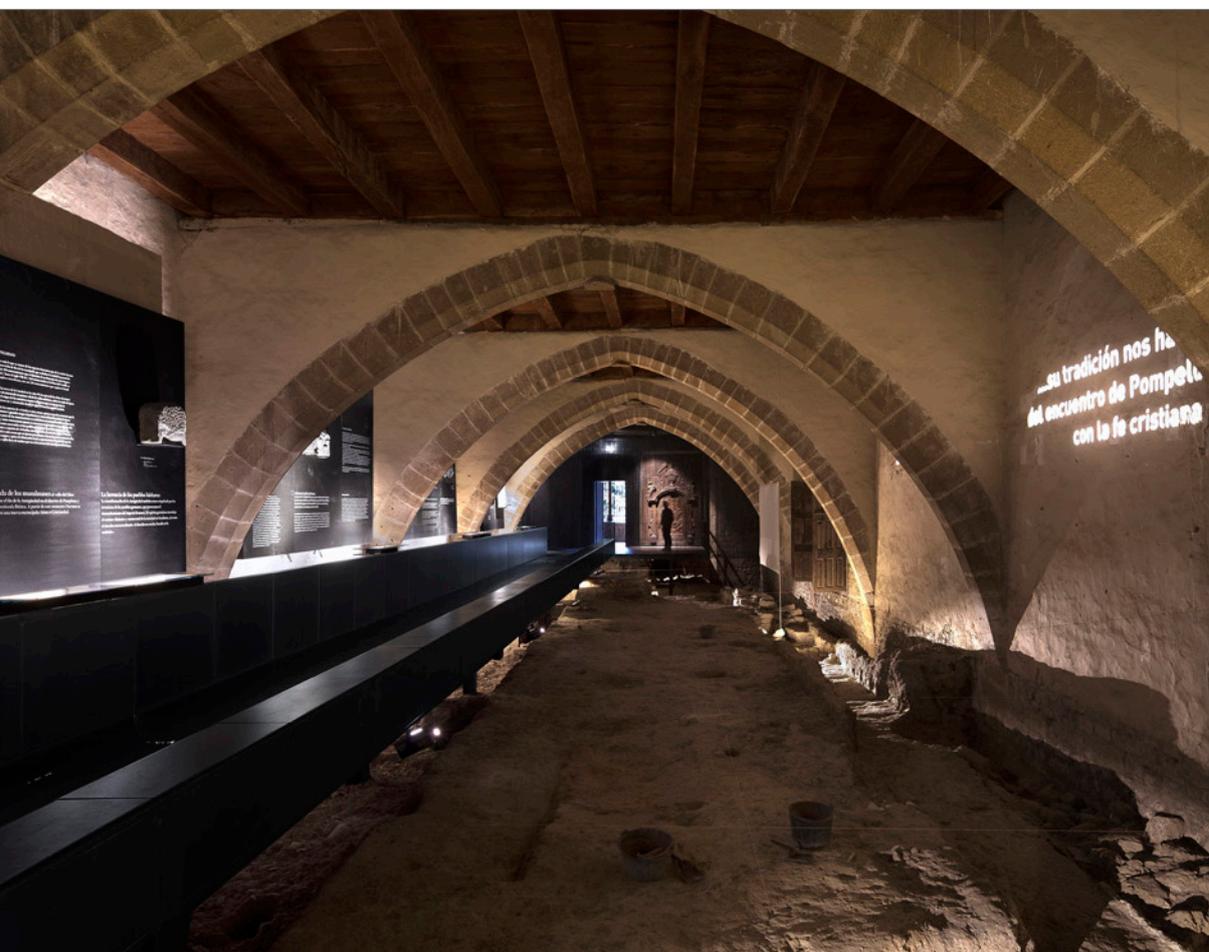

The Award for Architectural Heritage Intervention AADIPA, arises from the belief that heritage, as a vehicle for social integration and an economic vitalizing resource for the community, deserves to be appreciated and encouraged. In the current context, in which architectural heritage is considered not only to be a fundamental instrument of knowledge but also a first rate socio-economic resource for the sustainable development of cities, the disclosure, distinction and recognition of works and quality projects contributing to the preservation of the collective memory is imperative.

The contest is aimed at consolidating itself as a catalyst and observatory of new challenges added to the conservation and intervention in built heritage by the globalization of contemporary architecture. It aims primarily to distinguish heritage good practice and contribute to its disclosure.

The award is organized by members of the Association of Architects for the Defence and Intervention in Architectural Heritage (AADIPA):

Ramon Calonge,
Oriol Cusió,
Marc Manzano,
and Jordi Portal

Ramon Calonge

Qualified as an Architect in 2000 (ETSAV), he has held senior positions in AADIPA since 2001. In 2013 he opened his studio in Venice and has worked on various restoration works for the Government of Catalonia and the Provincial Council of Barcelona, among which is the exterior restoration of the Pavilion of Saint Leopold in the Historical Complex of the Sant Pau Hospital, a World Heritage site.

Oriol Cusidó
